Above: Interior designer Hadas Metzler has invented a canvas of color to accent the contemporary architecture of 101 Bedford, located directly across from McCarren Park on Bedford Avenue, between North 11th and 12th Streets, the first introduction to the new 351-unit rental complex is a dramatic double-height lobby with dark wood walls and ceilings punctuated by subtle strokes that segue into backlit illuminated mailboxes off the side. In addition, Metzler has utilized the natural U-shape of the complex comprising four attached eight-story buildings, and created a center courtyard with landscaped paths and benches. In addition to oversized windows, hardwood floors and high ceilings, each studio, one- and two-bedroom apartment has an open kitchen with stainless steel appliances, Caesarstone counters, glass tile backsplashes and chartreuse accents above honey-hued wood cabinetry.
